BACKGROUND

The Victorian Aboriginal Child Care Agency (VACCA) is the largest organization of its kind in Australia. VACCA is an Aboriginal community-controlled organization that supports and advocates for the Aboriginal community. Our strength lies with our people. Our team is committed to the organisation's vision and values; advocates for our children and other vulnerable community members; and shows respect for, observance and compliance with Aboriginal cultural protocols, practice and ceremony. Our Aboriginality is what distinguishes us from mainstream services and what enables us to deliver the positive outcomes we achieve for our people.

VACCA employs over 600 staff and delivers more than 70 programs across the state. VACCA's experience and expertise in the delivery of therapeutic interventions are underpinned by culture, connection, and healing. VACCA designs, develops and delivers programs with self-determination and an understanding that the intergenerational trauma experienced by our community requires intergenerational and community healing.

Central to VACCA's work is the importance of connection to family, community and culture as essential to Aboriginal children's safety, stability and ensuring that they have an ongoing sense of belonging. As Victoria's largest Aboriginal child welfare agency, VACCA will play a key role in the process of transitioning the care and case management of Aboriginal children from government and non-Aboriginal organisations to Aboriginal community-controlled organisations following the recent decision of the Victorian Government.

VACCA is implementing cultural therapeutic ways which is an agency wide framework that underpins our work with the community, our clients and staff

OUR VISION

Aboriginal self-determination - Live, Experience and Be.

OUR PURPOSE

PROGRAM AREA

The Royal Commission into Family Violence found that to achieve the overall objective of keeping victim survivors safe, the range of perpetrator interventions needed to be both broader and better integrated to create a 'web of accountability' to keep perpetrators in view of the service and justice systems.

This program will:

- Provide individual case management to male perpetrators of family violence where required
- Deliver programs to men who commit family violence
- focus on educating family violence perpetrators on the impact of their behaviour and to understand the effects of violence and the impact it has on their relationship and also their children and to work with them to become better fathers so that their children can feel safe and grow up healthy, happy and strong.
- adopt practice models that build coordinated interventions, including cross-sector workforce development between the men's behaviour change, mental health, drug and alcohol and forensic sectors.

POSITION SUMMARY

Family Violence -Men's Case Manager/Worker is created to provide timely response for perpetrators by linking them in with services without the need to go on a waiting list for a Minimum Standards for men's behaviour change programs (MBCP). While the availability of MBCPs is expanding it is not uncommon, especially in rural and regional areas, for perpetrators to wait to access supports.

This program aims to reduce the risk associated with perpetrator's use of family violence by providing an individualised and tailored response to address the barriers to engaging in the change process. This is achieved through proactive practical and psychological support to men across the community who use family violence in conjunction with systemic and integrated risk management strategies;

- Hold perpetrators to account and keep perpetrators in view of services and relevant authorities
- Contribute to a 'safe at home' approach
- Provide an opportunity to engage with victim survivors via family safety contact
- Identify information that may be proactively or responsively shared on request under the information sharing scheme to contribute to risk assessment and management for victim safety
- Offer perpetrators a timely response
- Actively engage perpetrators with a view to identify key changes necessary to enable perpetrators to take responsibility and enable the victim survivor to live safely, including the ongoing use of risk assessment and risk management
- Provide a more tailored service response through the coordination of specialist services, including mental health, alcohol and other drug, and housing services
- Assist in engagement with programs that aim to stop family violence, including but not limited MBCPs.
- Actively involve the perpetrator in planning and decision making to encourage engagement with other social and universal services
